SASS Recognition Week. How good are our school support staff...
They are fantastic. This week we say thanks to our wonderful Support Staff who are the amazing engine room behind the big wheel of our school. Every day our school support staff do so much. From managing all school processes and tracking the whereabouts, educational outcomes, well being of 1135 students every day, 6 periods a day 40 weeks a year, we have a budget of over $14 million, including salaries, work health safety, student learning plans, staff wellbeing of 120 staff, facility management, resource management. We generate 1135 personalized reports, each containing 10 pages, and we run over 200 excursions and 10 camps. We attend to dozens of First Aid cases almost every day, 120 phone calls a day and all this with a smile. Without our support staff we could not deliver our “core business” of Teaching and Learning. We the students, teachers and parents sincerely thank you for all your effort, dedication, handwork and expertise, friendliness and kindness. You are awesome!

Transmit 2014. “My culture is rich, My culture is strong, My culture’s got it goin’ ON”
In the last few weeks over 60 young Aboriginal people, from five Shoalhaven High Schools, have been working closely with inspiring artists and mentors to develop skills in rap and poetry, contemporary dance and didgeridoo. ‘Transmit’ was aimed at Aboriginal youth, encouraging them to tap into their own creativity and express themselves through words, dance and music.

Our students were the stars.
Congratulations to all our Aboriginal students who were outstanding in their performances, we are very proud of you.

Effort vs Talent.. a growth Mindset
Walk the talk … effort and hard work
“We still have the tendency to say that if you do well it’s because you’re talented. In places like China and Hong Kong, they don’t do that. They don't have that kind of language. They say, you succeeded because of the effort you put in”. John Hattie 2014.

At Ulladulla High School we are so fortunate that we are an outstanding school with fabulous opportunities, however, it takes each student’s own effort, dedication and hardwork to achieve success. I congratulate all our Principal’s Award recipients, you get it! You know it takes effort, hard work, consistency, courage and, throw in some kindness, to be successful.
As our Year 12 prepare for their HSC, many have already completed ‘major projects’ in Wood, Visual Arts, Textiles, Extension 2 English and so on. It is clear those who have achieved the works that are “WOW”, are sustained and successful. In my observations, it is NOT the most talented who have achieved success, as all successful people tell you, “success needs much more than just talent”.

It is the person who has been open to suggestions, has pursued new skills, refined and taken action on new ways of seeing their world. The person who has asked for help, and acted based on suggestions, has made a massive effort, beyond their own imagining. Has been organised, dedicated and persistent, learning from setbacks, shown initiative and built an excellent mutual relationship with the teacher.

All that equals success……and takes so much more than having a talent in something. So, take your talent ‘off the shelf’ and give it an effort work out!

Our SRC and SEC epitomize this philosophy.

Finally… Teachers of the future.
As of 2015, all students entering university to complete a teaching degree will be required to have 3 band 5s.. ie. a score above 80. It is an initiative that underpins the concept, “Great teaching inspired learning”. We need the best and brightest graduates in our classrooms. It’s funny to say… some people think because they went to school, they know about teaching, they know how it works. Some even say, it’s not 'Rocket Science" teaching kids… I have to disagree… teaching is rocket science. Engaging and building the minds of young people is a skill and a craft. And it is something that continually needs refining, developing and researching. So becoming a teacher today is about Great teaching, inspired learning. teachers who are our best and brightest.

Have a wonderful week! Denise Lofts, Principal

Black Leather Shoes are the Go!

Correct leather shoes

Incorrect shoes—canvas

The canvas shoes that some students are wearing are not WH&S approved and are not considered as uniform.

All leather black shoes are the ‘go’ as they cover the WH&S issues plus shoes are water-proof and keep feet safe and warm!

From Canteen

By The Creek
I look under the small bridge by the creek and slowly move the reeds with my hands looking for something. A cold hard surface touches my hand and I hope it is what I am looking for. I lift it up and it is. It hides away from me.
